In a lifestyle of speed adrenaline and desire, one racer has sacrificed everything for the sport he loved. He will fight for his name, his family and now his life to be the legend he's been portrayed to be. But what happens when you're standing on the edge of disaster and none of that matters anymore? Jameson Riley, a racer whose effect on the sport is greater than any statistical contribution, has that talent and the family dedicated to get him to those legendary levels he has always dreamed of. Just like any long race, their lives have fallen into a comfortable pace making pit stops and adjustments along the way, they remain in line with the occasional shuffle. Through it all, Jameson is a driver with a numbing reputation, an imperial manner and the clout to back it. He's been challenged on and off the track for the last eighteen years but life is changing for this family. That's when tragedy surfaces. A malicious act of revenge will decide the fate of the champion everyone has watched grow from the local dirt track racer to the mystifying greatness he became. One family is forced to look for a miracle. They question the sport, relationships, and the only lifestyle they've ever known. When your life is measured in laps, what happens when the white flag is thrown?
